

10:00 a.m. until 1 p.m.
March 27, 2010
NE Spruill Oaks Library
9560 Spruill Road - 30022
770-360-8820

Southern Breeze & SCBWI Schmooze

Writing Nonfiction for Kids

Writing for the Educational Market

Presented by Toni Rhodes

- ◆ What is the educational market?
- ◆ How does a writer/illustrator find educational publishers?
- ◆ What skills/attitudes do you need to become a successful educational writer?
- ◆ Where do you get your ideas?
- ◆ How to send a project idea to an educational publisher?
- ◆ How are educational materials advertised and sold?
- ◆ Adapting your idea for the educational market into a magazine article

Toni holds a masters degree in education and has been writing for the Educational Market for eleven years.

Who, How, What & Where of Creative Nonfiction

Presented by Heather Kolich

- ◆ Who publishes nonfiction magazines for children?
- ◆ How do you get a magazine editor's attention?
- ◆ How a photo can help sell your article.
- ◆ What is Creative Nonfiction?
- ◆ Why write for magazine markets?
- ◆ Where do you find research sources?

Heather is a regular contributor to HowStuffWorks and Listen Magazine. She has been writing for the Nonfiction Market for over ten years.

A free workshop sponsored in conjunction with the Atlanta-Fulton Public Library System

The Society of Children's Book Writers and Illustrators
Northeast Spruill Oaks Library and Friends of the Library
Preregistration requested - 770-360-8820

